Congressman Scrivner of the House Appropriations Committee visited the Agency to get a briefing on certain intelligence information, relating particularly to the Soviet aircraft and guided missile program. The Director, Gen. Cabell, Mr. Sheldon and others, handled the presentation of this matter for the Congressman. Although we were prepared to do so, there was no need, as we had earlier been informed by Congressman Mahon, to brief the Congressman on the CIA budget. He appeared satisfied with his briefing [REDACTED]
